EXPERIENCE

IT Project Manager

I am a passionate and driven IT specialist with extensive experience in leading and managing complex IT projects and building strong customer relationships. With a background as a Software Developer, Scrum Master, and Product Owner I have a unique ability to balance technical and business needs while ensuring that our solutions meet customer requirements and business goals. In my current role, I lead a development team where I am responsible for the entire development process, from design and implementation to launch. I drive and prioritize projects, design applications, and ensure that business logic is implemented in the best possible way to optimize our customers' operations.

I have daily customer interaction and am responsible for training, support, and digital tools that contribute to our customers' success.
